

STACY SUN, a native of China, founded Asia Pacific-USA Chamber of Commerce and China Global Ventures. Ms. Sun is the driver behind the vision and leadership for her company and her client's direction. She is responsible for initiating the company's strategic direction and formulating and executing the long-term strategies of her client's operations.

Ms. Sun set out to establish CGV as the premier China business consulting firm in the United States with offices both in Los Angeles and Shanghai. She has focused and concentrated CGV's resources on building China market entry implementation, government relations, and profit maximization services. The result has been increased growth and profitability of client initiatives as well as greater value to CGV's customer base.

During her tenure as CEO Ms. Sun has directed consulting engagements for companies in the following industries: Finance, Telecommunications, Manufacturing, Aviation, and Entertainment. Her leadership enabled Video Products Group, a leading provider of audio / video equipment to the telecommunications industry, to grow its China operations revenues five fold in two years. Her work with building China business infrastructure for Vaughan Benz, a U.S. based manufacturer of high end customized furniture, reduced the company's production costs by 30 percent and grew market share. For the past seven years Ms. Sun established and led Asia Pacific USA Chamber of Commerce (APUCC), a forum for corporations and U.S. and Chinese government agencies to partner and create business opportunities. Her experience at APUCC aided Ms. Sun in establishing well strong relationships with the highest levels of the Chinese government. She has established reciprocal trade relationships with the following cities in China: Beijing, Shanghai, Guangzhou, Tianjin, Dalian, Ningbo, Haikou, Changzhou.

Earlier in her career, Sun was an integral part of the Chinese banking industry, leading the International Commercial Banking Department at the Industrial and Commercial bank of China (ICBC) in Beijing for nearly a decade. While at ICBC, she developed a system to expertly navigate the executive and operational levels of both the Chinese provincial and national governments, allowing her access to greater market opportunities.

Ms. Sun has been featured in the LA Business Journal, the New York Times, La Opinion, and has been interviewed on Phoenix TV and CCTV, China's Central Television station. Ms. Sun was named to the Top 20 Woman in Business Award from the California State Legislative Office in 2006. She was also named "2007 China Top 10 Caizhi People". It is the award to recognize leaders who contribute greatly to Chinese economic and social development, who have outstanding creating spirit and ability that influence society tremendously with material achievements and spiritual results. The award has the three principal: Contribution, Creation, Reputation" and it has been sponsored by the Chinese National condition investigation & Study Committee, Phoenix Satellite Television, Fortune Times and sohu.com since 2004.

Ms. Sun holds a Masters Degree in International Finance from Changchun University in Changchun, China and a Bachelors Degree in Business and History from the Beijing Normal University, and has attended The Executive Program at UCLA's Anderson School.